

Mono Lake

A simple ecosystem with a complex history

Join Nora Livingston, the Mono Lake Committee Lead Naturalist Guide, on a visual journey to the Eastern Sierra to learn about the unique natural history of Mono Lake, how human activity has impacted the lake, and how generations of dedicated people (many from Marin) have worked hard to protect it for future generations.

Nora grew up in Inverness, and attributes her love for nature to coming of age here in West Marin and exploring all the habitats with her family.
